

Monday 4/23	PROMT #1 New Ending Think of a different ending for the part of your book that you just read. Write it down. Draw a picture to illustrate your new ending.
Tuesday 4/24	PROMPT #2 Quoting Characters Dialogue is a tool good writers take advantage of to help move the story along and to provide important hints about a character's personality. Select a telling quote from the book you are reading and copy it inside a speech balloon. What did that statement teach you about its speaker? Write your ideas in a thought bubble If you're feeling artistic, add cartoon drawings of that character and yourself
Wednesday 4/25	BREAK NIGHT
Thursday 4/26	Prompt #3 Story Sleuth Foreshadowing is when a writer leaves little clues to warn the reader about a dramatic event that will happen later in the story. For example, if a character has the sniffles on page 22 and a full-blown cold on page 56, the sniffles foreshadowed the cold. Play detective by searching through your book for an example of foreshadowing. Write the clue you found and then write the important event it foretold in the.
Friday 4/27	BREAK NIGHT
Weekend 4/28-29	BONUS BREAK NIGHT ENJOY THE WEEKEND!