Oct. 31 – Nov. 6

Monday 10/31	Title _____ Author _____ Share a passage (a few sentences from the book) that shows an emotion or a mood. Visualize that emotion or mood. Draw a picture.	Reading Minutes
Tuesday 11/1	Title _____ Author _____ The books on a person's bookshelf can tell you quite a bit about his or her interests and history. Choose a main character from the book you are reading and think about his or her experiences. What books might this character have on his or her bookshelf? Create titles for the books.	Reading Minutes
Wednesday 11/2	Title _____ Author _____ Doodling is a great way to visualize your reading and your thinking! While reading your book, spend some time doodling about the content. Your doodles could be sketches, shapes, words, or cartoons and should include information about the people, places, or events covered in your story. Use color to enhance your doodles!	Reading Minutes
Thursday 11/3	Title _____ Author _____ Does a picture really say a thousand words? Imagine that you were present during an event described in your book. If you had a camera, what pictures might you have captured? Select a picture and draw it. Include as many details as you can and write a paragraph about the picture.	Reading Minutes
Friday 11/4	Title _____ Author _____ What literacy techniques did you find? Flashback? Foreshadowing? Figurative language? Find examples of two of these techniques, and share.	Reading Minutes
Weekend 11/5-6	Title _____ Author _____ Awards ceremonies are a great place to find superlatives! Based on your reading, create an award for the best of something—the best villain, the best hero, the best problem solver—you name it! Whatever award you make, make sure to justify your choice!
